Middle School Good Times

Vol. 22 # 4 Paw Paw Middle School, Paw Paw 49079 $.50

What's Really in Maple Lake
by l.monroe and m. kovach

As of last Friday the city has started dumping the sewer pipes into Maple Lake to save money. The idea is that the sewage will sink to the bottom and dissolve.

While transferring sewer lines to the lake, workers found the body of an 80-year-old man who had become tangled in the seaweed. Authorities suspect he was trying to get some seaweed for his Chinese cooking.

Eggs Determined Deadly
by J.conway

A horrid fact about eggs has just been unearthed; they can cause numerous health problems if eaten too often.

Scientists working at the Oregon Academy of Culinary Arts in Salem last Monday accidentally stumbled across a stunning discovery. Working on egg-cholesterol tests with mice and rats, they noticed an increasing mortality rate in the animals.

Richard Pearson, a doctor at the academy, claims that certain chemicals in the brain are replaced by an enzyme in the egg. (hytoclobritryte) when the egg is consumed. According to Pearson, the brain is "fooled" into believing that the body is infested with virii. The immune system goes into overtime, creating antibodies to fight off the imagined virii. This can leave the body in heavy fatigue.

The worst part is that the immune system is so busy creatin useless cells that it can't defend the body against common invaders. The virii can run loose in the body, undeterred.

Pearson believes that Hytoclobritryte is the result of chemicals added to laying hens' food to increase the quantity of eggs produced. Now he is worred that chemicals given to cows and other animals could "severely decrease the human population."

The Surgeon-General and World Health Organization are expected to make televised statements about this case.

Finger Found in School Lunch
by j. sikora

No one was as horrified as Jack Conway today when he found a severed finger floating in his potato soup. "I just kept thinking it was a really big potato until I looked at it closely. I couldn't bring myself to eat the soup though. Who knows where that finger has been," Jack recalled later.

Jack plans to sue the manufacturer of the soup, the Pogar company. The Pogar company released a statement earlier today saying that they will work to reduce the number of body parts accidentally included in their foods from now on.

PPMS Toilet Water Found Cleaner than Drinking Fountain Water

by j. sikora

An extensive study of both types of water was done by Matt Campbell and Mike Haught of the water quality team from Science Olympiad. The results were shocking. Toilet water was actually found to be cleaner, purer and healthier than the water found in the fountain.

The results were taken to Mr. Barnhouse to see if the situation could be corrected. He pointed out that the water hadn't killed anyone yet, but offered to look into it.

Til then, it's our choice.

Bigfoot Sighted in PPMS classroom

by c. boyce

A large humanoid appearing to be the legendary yeti was sighted at Paw Paw Middle School.

The yeti goes by the name of Edingerrr, the name incidentally on the classroom door. He appears to be quite good at teaching and at telling Michigan State jokes.

When asked what a sasquatch was doing teaching U.S. history, the principal, Mr. Barnhouse, simply said, "No comment."

The yeti is considering working at Western Michigan University in a study where he will receive a much higher salary than he gets here at PPMS.

Missing Student Mysteries Solved

Ever wonder what happens to kids who seem to have left or dropped out of the middle school population? Not all of them have moved.

REally they went down to the school basement one day by themselves and never came up again.

The basement kept them. They are most likely in the ooz from the pipes and in the corners at night.

So, don't go down there ever . My sources say that there is water dripping onto the floors down there. Don't believe it. You don't even want to know what it is.

Trust us. There are reasons why we don't have classrooms down there.

Trees Don't Really Help Us..

by kelly and melissa

They take up too much space.

They are too tall to climb to the top of

They block the sun

They let little gross bugs and creatures get into their bark. ( not good grooming)

They have sticky stuff that can make you very dirty...

The above is all nonsense... Trees are really good. Happy April Fool's Day.

And You Thought They Were Middle-Aged?

Mrs. Nufer is 58. Mr. Barnhouse is 78. Mr. Ruesink is 90 and Mrs. Swanson at least 82. Mrs. A. Smith enters her second century this year at 100. Mrs. C. Smith is 74.

The really old ones should be in Guiness Book of REcords. Mrs. Kalisiak at 991, Mr. Cassell , 688. Mr. Erickson is 209. ( or is that his room number?) and the oldest two are Mr. Pefley and Mr. Wilson, although we're sure Mr. Wilson is the older one.

(j.joking.)

ANOTHER PUZZLE SOLVED

by C. Boyce

Our infestation problem has been solved. Whether it is safe or not is another matter. The city council has argued for three days over what to do about our squirrel population The town has been invaded by squirrels. Not just those cute bushy-tailed rascals you are so used to. No, these are a new breed. They have a black band around their eyes, making them look like comic book robbers.

Specifically these are Columbian jungle squirrels. They constantly foam at the mouth and chirrip very fast.

The city has decided to legalize hunting of these provided the hunter pays $20 for a license and uses only b.b.'s. That way the city makes money, which lowers taxes, we are rid of the squirrels and the only one unhappy in this are the Columbian squirrels. picture p. 3

WHICH ARE BEST? Hand driers or paper towels? YOU BE THE JUDGE.

a debate in editorial form from Jack Conway and Mike Martin

OF all the Rotten contraptions known to mankind, none is sos bad as the beastly hand drier. What a waste of ceramic! For how often they work, are they worth the energy waster? We're willing to wager that if a survey were taken , most of the convenience -store dryers would be broken or missing.

Not only are they technically weak, but think how much quicker you could dry your hands with paper towel? O.k. So they cause major waste but they are so much more convenient. Just grab them and leave - they come with you! No standing around while you wait for your hands to dry. Plus, with the vigorous movements of towel drying, there is less chance of fatty triceps.

And for you cloth-roll users out there, heed this. One convenience store lost millions to an angry customer who got her hand stuck in the roller of the cloth dryer. She was badly injured and was hospitalized for a month.

We believe that only paper towels should remain legal in restrooms. It probably won't happen but a little boycott couldn't hurt.

j. conway

THE OPPOSING VIEW

It was the best of times and the worst of times, for as he approached , he noted all three popular restroom dryers available, but didn't know which to choose. Yes, this is a problem we all often face everyday.

We believe that the sleek, rectangular white ceramic dryer is best. While being low-maintenance, unless it is completely broken, it produces no waste. Then factor in to it that it can dry anthing with its warm comfortable current of air. It may not be the fastest, but we're all gonna die sometime, so time doesn't matter anyway.

On the highway of drying, the hand dryer is a Camaro . The average guy, let's say, Mr. X, is in the restroom. His eyes track left. They fall upon his options. The towel roller. It uses no waste or electricity. Seems like a winner, right? Wrong. It's a vandal's favorite . It is susceptible to bathroom mischief. It also poses the most fearsome element of dryers...the roller. Some people think that Jimmy Hoffa is ina Cuban restroom to this day with his hand caught in a roller! We see the roller as the Rabbit of the dryer road... cheap.

Last, and easily least it the paper towell. Wasteful, used for projectiles , prone to cause paper cuts...it spells Death! It is the little old lady in the mufflerless Gremlin. Get it off the road! (of dryers.).

PASMAN'S BOOKS SCAMPER OFF

Mrs. Pasman was gone from her class room last Thursday . When she returned on Friday, she found that her lit. books had developed legs and run off. If you see any sign of them, ( or footprints) please notify her so we can chop their legs off to prevent this from happening again.

by c,mckenzie

SPORTS TODAY..Mr. Erickson is Half Time Entertainment ...by creameans

Mr. Erickson unveiled his "crazy eye" to the tv world today at Houston's half-time show.

The Oilers were down by three against the Lions. Mr. Erickson's rousing half-time performance got the Oilers pumping.

They scored a field goal and it was tied until the last four minutes of the game when number 19 Steve McNair scored the touchdown that won the game.

The final score was 23-16 thanks to Mr. E.

MR. NORTHUIS REPLACES BOWMAN for REDWINGS by af, ac, and aa

Mr. Northuis was asked to take the place of head coach SCotty Bowman of the Detroit Redwings yesterday.

Mr. Northuis isn't sure yet if he'll accept the job though. Says Northuis, "Gee, I love my students, you know. They mean the world to me."

Mr. TOPP BEATS MIKE TYSON!!! (nw) CHAMP... by af, aa, and ac

The fight ended quick in Las Vegas, NV. As soon as "The Big" Topp threw his first punch, Mike Tyson was k.o.ed. Just eight seconds into the first round, Mike Tyson lost the heavyweight championship title to "The Big" Topp.

MRS.DOBBS, First Woman in the NBA...by a. alexander

(Philadelphia). Many women have tried and failed but because of her knowledge of parabolas, Mrs. Dobbs is the first woman in the NBA.

Mrs. Dobbs is a pure shooter from behind the three point arc and grabs rebounds because of her strong arms.. By hitting the weights ( and riding her sailboat all summer), she makes herself a presence inside.

Whenever the 76'ers need a long-range three or a slam dunk, they go to Mrs. Dobbs. "I like to be the go-to gal," seh says. "I play better with pressure on me. I'm just happy to play."

WHAT ARE THOSE NOISES IN THE PIPES? by j. sargent

Those noises that you hear in the pipes aren't what you think they are. You may think that it's because the building is old that you hear it. It's not. What you're hearing is the leprachauns that the middle school has hired to work in the pipes.

The leprachauns help clear the pipes when they get so clogged up that they won't heat up the middle school. See, we can't afford a new heating system so they hire the leprechauns instead. (lots cheaper.)

TOP PRANKS FOR APRIL !st

by b. cosby and the jello man

10. Green dye in shampoos
9. Vaseline the doorknobs
8. Replace dog with guinea pig
7. Buy livestock, set loose in living room
6. Write arithmetic all over your walls.
5. Rename yourself "Bilboew".
4. Play Twister and constantly yell, "I sunk your battleship."
3. Have a tea party and spill tea on the floor.
2. Tell your siblings that they are adopted and your parents don't love them, making them runaway.
1. Do nothing.

APRIL FOOLS'

Funny, guilty
Laughing, shouting, crying
Pranks.

by ashley alexander

THRILLER w/ AGENT CAMEL

by m. martin

Weeub! weeub! Mr. Habeeb's high-powered, radioactive , purple, right hand ring-finger cuticle buzzed. D.A.N. ( Defense of Arabic Nations) was callling him. Mr. Habeeb dodged a would-be customer, hopped into his Camel-mobile and speeded off.

"Oh, Agent C. So happy that you arrived safely," said W. "Sit down. Our network has discovered that Jim Hoffa is planning to nuke the Eiffel Tower. Please save my country' most prized poss..Agent Camel?" But Agent C was already preparing to jump to hyper-Camel speed.

As Agent Camel arrived , he saw the huge tanlged wonder of steel looming in the background, rising to a spire, encircled by Chad-grey buildings, with a large black square box, duct-taped to the top. The bomb. Agent Camel sprinted to the top and studied the bomb. He kicked it. It fell apart and he saw a note that read...Ha!

Now it all fell into place. W greeting him oddly and saying he was from France because he was really Elvis in disguise. Agent Camel ran back to the Main Dune.

Nine seconds later, he peered into the Sub-Main-Dune -For-People-Code-named W. Inside he saw W hanging upside down by his toenail. He had been hit with rotten Kiwi birds and was turning fuchia.

"Agent Camel. Good show! Saving my life and all. But it's too late. The falling Chinese satellite has hit by now."

Epilogue: The satellite slammed into the earth with the force of a small atom bomb. Luckily it hit near Trenton, New Jersey. The blast vaporized all the garbage and cleaned the whole state. D.A.N. was hailed as a group of heroes!

APRIL FOOL PRANKS...edited by b.cross and t. gerard

Stephen Taylor said, "Look , deer...everyone looked. And , of course , there was no deer. April Fool!"

Angelina Holt used "Itching powder on her brother.... and it worked well.!"

ALbert Hicks said to his sister," There's a snake in the water!" Apparently she ran so fast and swam so fast, he is still laughing.

Matt Goretzka recalls putting insulation in his brother's bed. Says Matt,"If the skin is exposed to it for a while, a big itchy rash will develop." Matt says it worked really good.

Laura Boyce actually caught her mom with one of those squirting flowers... "She smelled it and... you know the rest." Ashley Alexander told her father there was a hole in his favorite sweater and he almost threw it away.

Rich Meyers told his sister she was adopted... and she believed him. She actually asked her dad.

STAFF...APRIL FOOLS TIMES

Christine Byrd, Phil Sang, Erin Merker, Jennifer Sargent, Mike Haught, Kelly Baskin, Paulette REidt, Melissa Knoll, Melissa Whistler, Noell Russell, Nikki O'Keefe, Nate McKenzie, Casey McKEnzie, Ashley Alexander, Charlene Beardslee, Ashley Lee, Mary WRen, Laura Boyce, Lindsey Boulter, Candice Cole, Corey Worden, T.C. Staggs, Natalie Alden, Jack Conway, Chris Peshl, Andrew Alexander, Carrie Kowalczyk, Bianca Cross, Don Dean, BRandon L:epley, Jamie O'Keefe, Jen Sikora, Tracy Miller, Michielle Miller, Maggie Coleman, Brandon Hewitt, Alison Surdy, Sam Allen, Stacie Kennedy, Jessica Stutz, Casey Kern, Laura Monroe, Paula Hopson, Kim Holcomn, Julie Fuhrmann, Amanda Shipley, Anne DeCou, Nellie Kuntz, Josh Hochmuth, Elaine Bussema, TJ Gould, Joe Burke, Nathan Kalmbach, Jeff Stull, Kristen Miller, Sarah Carr, Jenny Jasinsky, Angelina Holt, , Maggie Coleman, Anthony Edwards, M ark Houghton, Vivian Cummins, Angela Ferrari, Angela Creameans.

FOR YOU I AM SORRY by mark

For you I am sorry for whathas been done,
I'm not hurt too deeply
For what has been done.
It may sound like I am being cruel,
Who knows. Sometimes I am not the only fool.

WE TOOK UP A COLLECTION, WORE THE HAT INSTEAD OF PASSING IT ....and

We raised over $248 March 22 during the hat permit day. Combined with the hat permits sold at both St. Mary's and Cedar Street, the three schools were able to send $487.40 to the family of Kristen Weston.

8th Graders Look Ahead....

The Class of 2000 is will be completing their scheduling for high school classes this week.

Mrs. Wright and Mr. Doll from the high school spoke with 8th graders last week and helped them schedule their freshman year.

The class also went to the Vo-Tech Center on Thursday to see what possibilities they could look forward to in 10th, 11th and 12 th grades.

I WISH I KNEW by c. peak

I wish I knew...
Why 24 hour stores have locks on the doors
Why school is boring
Who hired Dan Rather
What really happened to Michael Jackson
Why Michael Jordan is godlike
Why everyone is so hypocritical
Why (name deleted) 's pituitary gland is busted
When the world will blow up
When the next time I get the snot kicked out of me will be Ninja stuff
How to play the guitar like Slash
What the Titanic was really like
DAve Grohl
Slash
Joe Perry
A visual of Kurt Cobain's tragedy.

WINTER... ( after last week's blizzard this still is timely)

Icicles like needles and as sharp
Their tinkling sound just like a harp.

After the snow has fallen to a sheet
Like bread and butter will meet.

As the cold winter wind blows
Just as pins it will sting my nose.

As I look at the snow when the sun shines
Just like mirrors it will reflect off signs.

As the snow drifts come near
Just as fast as a sailing spear.

And as the winter goes by
Like a pen that's gone dry.

by fred siegl and matt bailly

MR. CASSELL INTERVIEWED by charlene

Mr. Cassell lives in southwest Michigan. He has two children whose names are Nathan and Molly. His wife's name is Maryanne.

He says he likes to teach. He went to school at Western Michigan University. He teaches industrial arts.

Only three days to Spring Vacation.... then we're off til April 15. Happy Easter! Happy Spring!

VOLLEYBALL by j. fuhrmann

It's game point
You've got the serve.
The pressure's on
The tension rises

You serve
The ball flies through
Sailing over the net
Bam!
The ball is returned
It's coming for you.

Bam!
You hit the ball .
It's up to the setter
The ball is set,
You go in for the spike.
Bam!

It sails over the net
And the girls just misses,
You have won the game.

Hampton Players... HOW SHAKESPEARE STARTED.. WELL, MAYBE? by l. anderson

A really neat Shakespearean theatre group came to the middle school during lst hour March 19. They were the Hampton players and their names were John and STacy.

They chose three people out of the audience to help out. They picked Anne DeCou, Katie Abshagen, and Julie Fuhrmann.

The players put on three different Shakespeare excerpts ( parts of a show): Julius Caesar, MidSummer's Night's Dream, and Romeo and Juliet. It was great even if you didn't understand Shakespeare.

Anne, Julie and Katie deserve a round of applause.

WHY CAN'T SIXTH GRADERS GO TO THE DANCES..by Brandy Hughes

Why can't sixth graders go to the dances? That is the question. They say that sixth graders are too immature. Have you looked at the seventh and eighth graders lately? Some act like third graders. IF we can't go to the dances, they shouldn't be able to either.

Most of the sixth graders think the same way. The school would more money because the more people go to the dance the more money they get. There is something to look at. Not all the seventh and eighth graders go to the dances.

A couple of pro's and con's about the dances are we get to meet some other people and have a social life. Some con's are WE can't go! Sixth graders are stuck with only activity night.

Some teachers think that we are too young. They want us to wait until next year. The seventh and eighth graders think we are too small and don't want to be seen with us.

If we go, we would act like the rest of them. IF we went we would get along with more kids and have a better social life.

I believe that we should be able to go. They should give us another chance. If they don't they won't know how we've changed. They should think about it some more and consider it a little more. That's what some of us think.

Well, 7th and 8th graders ( and 6th graders) Sounds like a real issue here. Feel free to write letters to the Good Times expressing your feelings and beliefs. Be sure to include your name and be clear and persuasive. Use facts . Put your letters in Mrs. Swanson's mailbox in the office or bring to room 203. Thank you,.

BEST CATEGORIES ANNOUNCED

compiled by maggie and brandon

REcently we did a survey on the 8th grade ...Mock Elections actually. We asked them to vote for each person they wanted to win for the various categories.

After all the votes were finished they were collected and handed to Mrs. Swanson. Then they were counted. The votes were close but here are the winners in all categories.

Best Hair: Jack Conway, Laura Sutherland

Best Shoes: Chris Peshl, Jenna Wright

Best Eyes: Zach Hanson, Heidi Begnoche

Best Taste in Clothes: Chris Peshl, Courtney Dunn, Anne LaPine

Biggest Muscles: Angelo Rotunno , Amanda Shipley (?)

Handsomest: Brandon Hewitt, Tom Coles

Prettiest: Anne LaPine, Jenny Jasinsky

Most likely to have the most kids: Angelo Rotunno, Bianca Cross

Best All-Around: Tony Borello, Abby Wolownik

Most Likely to Succeed: Andrew Alexander, Angie Peat

Most Athletic: Jim REynolds, Jenna Wright

Best B-Ball Player: Jim Reynolds, Maggie Coleman

Messiest Locker: Marshall Bailly, Angelina Holt

Smartest: Jack Conway, Katie Abshagen

Best Volleyball Player: Brandi Coyer, Sam Allen ( tied)

Congrats to all! If you have questions, feel free to ask.

FRIENDS by leeanna forbes

Close by the door he paused to stand
And reached out slowly and took her hand
All who were watrching didn't dare to speak
As a silent tear ran down his cheek.
All through his mind the memories ran
Of times they laughed and walked in the sand
But now her eyes are so terribly cold
He'd never have her hand to hold.
As they watched in silence, he bent down near and whispered "I love you" in her ear.

As softly as the wind began to blow
They lowered her casket in the snow.
This is what happens to many alive
When they allow their friends to drink and drive.

HURRAY FOR US,PPMS!
by mike, jen and jack

Paw PAw Middle School and High School met all of the teams from Van Buren, Cass and St. Joseph counties in a yearly competition MArch 10 for the Region 13 science title. As you should know, the Middle School annihilated the competition while the High School squeaked out their victory over Edminton.

15 students were chosen to compete from each school. Coached by Mr. Lutz, Mr. Snyder and Mr. Erickson, the team took a massive first place. They placed in 19 events., listed below:

Aerodynamics -1st (Matt Campbell); Bio-Process Lab- 1st ( Andrew Alexander, Joy Shinabarger) Battle Rocket- 1st (Kerri Champion); Earth Science Lab- 1st (Jack Conway, Jen Sikora); Metric Mastery- 1st ( Heather Sumner, Rachel Roberts); Out of this World -1st ( Mike Martin, Jason Wilhelmi); Pentathalon-1st ( Jack Conway, Jen Sikora ) ; Tower Building- 1st (Katie Absagen, Rachel Roberts); Periodic Table- 2nd ( Andrew Alexander); Science Crime Busters- 2nd ( K. Abshagen, Jack Conway); Science Fitness- 2nd ( Julie Fuhrmann. R. Roberts); Tree Mendous- 2nd ( Mike Haught, B. Moss); Road Scholar- 3rd (Zach Erickson, J. Fuhrmann); Trajectory- 3rd ( Joy Shinabarger, Z. Erickson) Write it Do it- 3rd (Jack Conway, A. Alexander); Experimental Design-4th (Abshagen, Alexander, Moss); Simple Matters- 4th (Kerri Champion, B. Moss) Rocks, Minerals -5th ( Abshagen, Sumner); Water Quality- 5th (M. Campbell, Haught).

The team included Abshagen, Conway, Campbell, Martin, Moss, Sikora, Shinabarger, Haught, Erickson, Fuhrmann, Alexander, Sumner, Roberts, Wilhelmi, and Champion.

Winning the regional give the Paw Paw teams the right to compete for the state title on April 20th. Paw Paw has high hopes for science this year at the state meet.

A big thank you goes to the alternates who help so much to make the day go smoothly. Now, on to the state in East Lansing. Wish us luck!

THE KITE by logan gillam

GEntle breezes flow eat to west. Sunbeams glow through the sky. A ool wind blows at your face. You look at the ground. A shiney dime lies on the grass. As you pick it up, you realize where you are and begin thinking about the natural wonders of the huge wolrd . You are less than speck of dust compared to the size of the earth.

A small boy runs at you asking you for help. What does he want? He lookds at you and points to the top of a large oak tree. He has lost his kite. He is near tears.

You know you can conquer that tree. As you walk to the tree it gets bigger and bigger. You grab ahold of a large branch. You scale the tree and happen to look down. This time you don't see a shiney dime. You realize that what you see glittering in the sunlight below is the the small boy's eyes.

Remembering the saddened eyes, you climb higher...The kite is released from the branches. It falls gently to the ground. Starting down you look to the ground once more before the rapelling of the tree is finished. You see not a dime or a sad face but a bright shining smile from the boy. It makes you feel like a hero.

At the bottom of the large oak you stand back congratulating yourself. The small boy comes over to you and says "Thank you for your help." He leaves and you watch him walk happily away. AS he grows smaller and smaller, you remember the dime. You pull the dime out of your pocket and toss it high into the air, walking away , thinking let some one else find it. It is one dime and other than ten cents, it is a looking glass into the past.

RISE OF THE SPOONS by Ben Van Sickle

They look homeless but they're not. It's hard to believe that they used to just be kitchen utensils. It all started when someone was cooking oatmeal in an experimental "Happiness of Cooking" microwave. ( it boils water in .01 seconds). When this person put the oatmeal in, he made one fatal mistake. He left the spoon in.

The microwave exploded. The spoon lay glowing in the burning rubble. When he( the spoon) opened its eyes and stood up, he heard sirens coming nearer . He saw a fire engine, but he didn't know enough to know it.

Suddenly a powerful blast of water hit him. He washed into the street and into the sewer. He hit his heaad and lost consciousness.

When he awoke he was surrounded by other spoons who explained what had happened and that it did happen a lot which was why there were so many of them.

They told him how people treated normal spoons and the Spoon got angry. He couldn't believe it. He rallied the spoons to fight back. They sent a spy to hid in the drawer in the White House kitchen.

The spy spoon was taken out and a person poured tea for the president who then stirred the tea slowly.

The tea was so hot the spoon screamed. The president's body guards destroyed the spoon instantly.

The spoons declared war. The broke into school cafeterias for ammunition( peas and carrots.)

Thirteen years the war raged across the Western Hemisphere til the spoons won and the people ( who couldn't eat) were long gone The y created new spoons with mercury so they could change shapes.

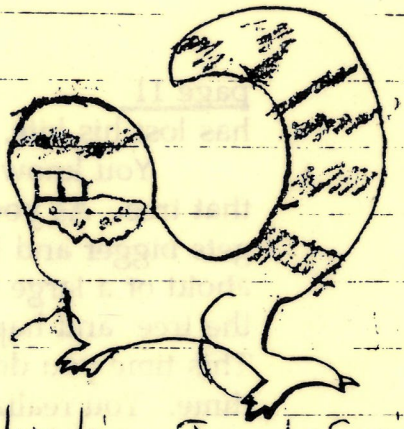
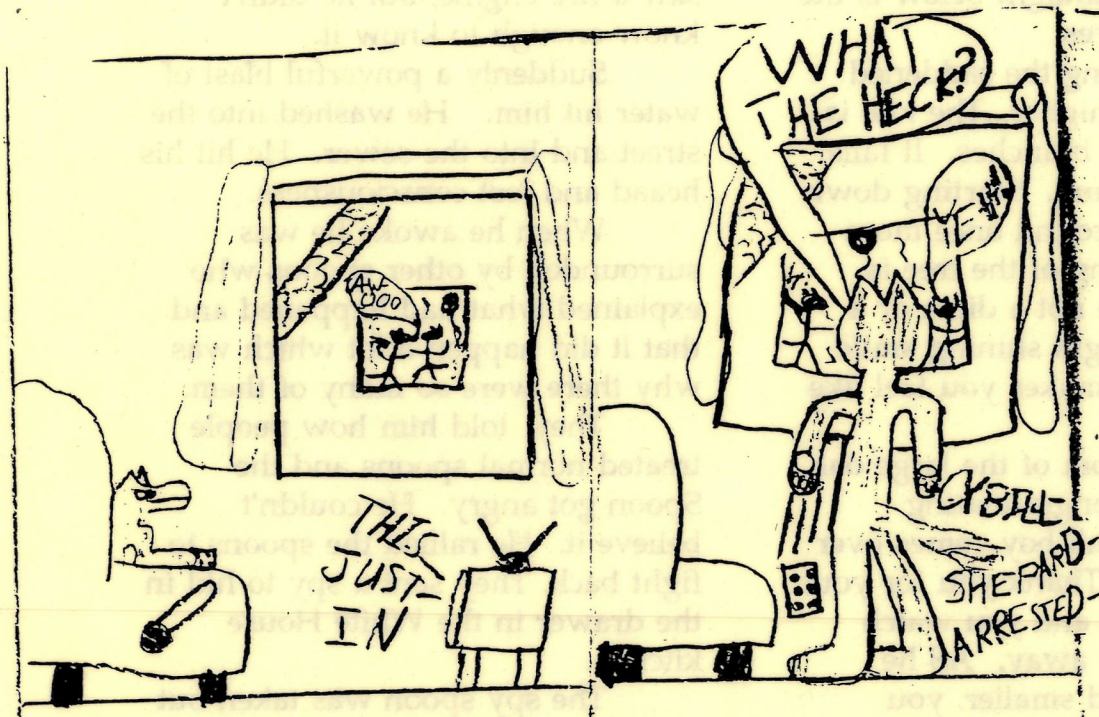
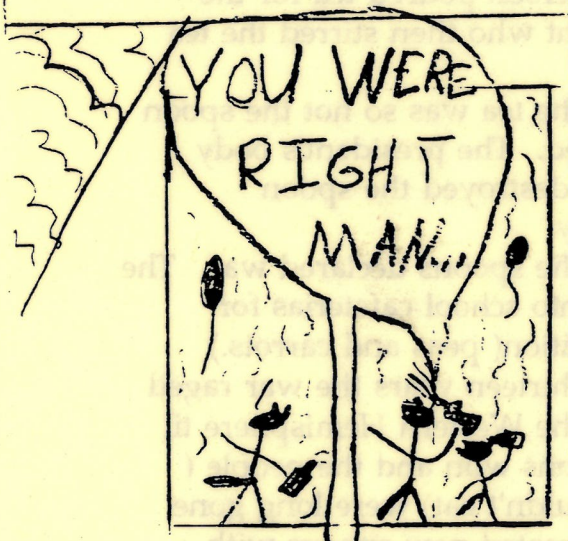
Little did they know they had a new enemy waiting in the wings. Waiting for the right moment... That enemy was .... the Cheese Danish.

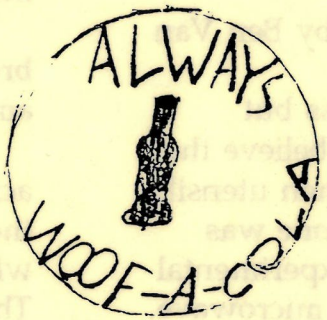
(see p. 3 for story)



Columbian Jungle Squirrels

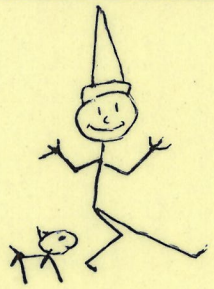






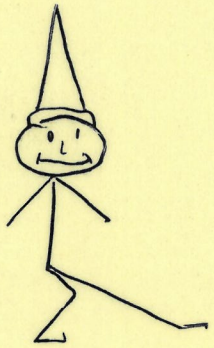
COMIC BY DAN PEAT
ANGELA PEAT'S BROTHER

Road apple, of the Road

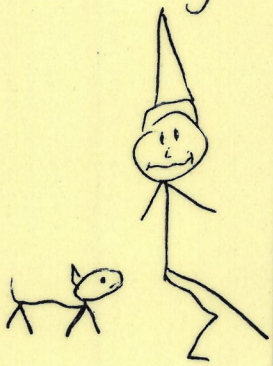


by J. Conway and T. Gould

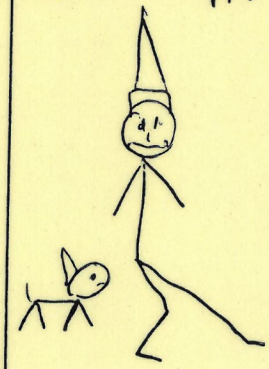
There was a boy.



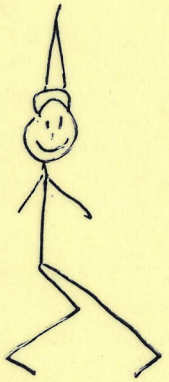
He had a dog.



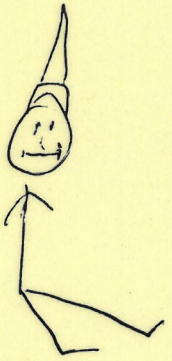
He was happy.



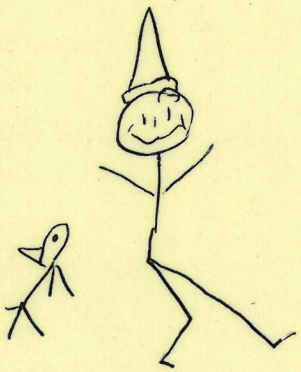
He lost his dog.



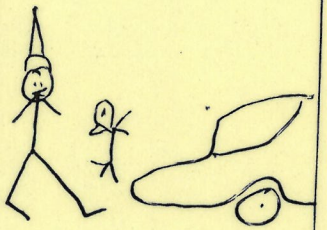
He was sad.



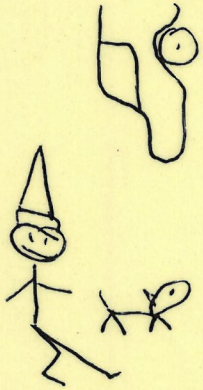
He found his dog.



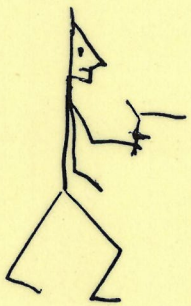
He was almost hit.



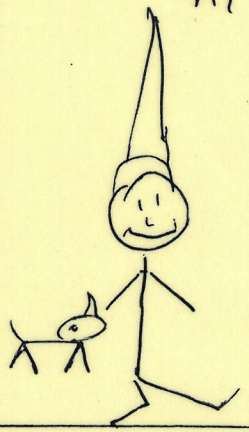
But it propelled over them.



HI!



He was happy.



THE End

created by T.J. Gould

made by J. Conway